Submission Details:

Current Score: 9 out of 10

27 minutes

9 out of 10

Time:

Kept Score:

Courses

蘁 Calendar

> 昼 Inbox (

History

?

Help

4 Accessibility Home

Assignments

Discussions

Grades

Module 2-quiz-Fall 23 At

Due Sep 17 at 11:59pm Points 10 Questions 10 Available Sep 4 at 12am - Sep 17 at 11:59pm Time Limit 300 Minutes

Attempt History

|        | Attempt   | Time       | Score       |  |
|--------|-----------|------------|-------------|--|
| LATEST | Attempt 1 | 27 minutes | 9 out of 10 |  |
|        |           |            |             |  |

(!) Correct answers will be available on Sep 18 at 3am.

Score for this quiz: 9 out of 10 Submitted Sep 17 at 6:02pm This attempt took 27 minutes.

| Question 1                                                                                           | 1 / 1 pts |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Choose the correct propositional logic for the English sentence: "(and teenagers are not adults" | Children  |
| $ @ \ (Children \lor Teenagers) \to \neg Adults \$                                                  |           |
| $\bigcirc \ (Children \wedge Teenagers) \vee \neg Adults$                                            |           |
| $\bigcirc \ (\mathit{Children} \lor \mathit{Teenagers}) \lor \neg \mathit{Adults}$                   |           |
| $\bigcirc \ (Children \wedge Teenagers) \rightarrow \neg Adults$                                     |           |
|                                                                                                      |           |
| Both children or teenagers will not be adults                                                        |           |

| Question 2 1/1 pt                           |  |  |
|---------------------------------------------|--|--|
| Function constants of arity 0 are called as |  |  |
| Predicate Constants                         |  |  |
| Object Constants                            |  |  |
| Proper Constants                            |  |  |
| Propositional Constants                     |  |  |

| Question 3                                                                                                                          | 1 / 1 pts     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|
| Suppose = {a, P, Q}, where a is object constant, P is Unary an predicate constant.  Statement: ∀x P(a) is a Formula. True or False? | d Q is binary |
| ⊚ True                                                                                                                              |               |
| ○ False                                                                                                                             |               |

2023 Fall C

Modules

Announcements

 $\forall x P(a) \text{ and } P(a) \text{ are formulas}$

| hat are         | the 1  | free varial | oles in the                | below Formu | ıla F1? |  |
|-----------------|--------|-------------|----------------------------|-------------|---------|--|
| : ( ∀x ( | P(x) / | ^ Q(x))) -  | $\rightarrow$ ( $\neg$ P(x | Q(y)        |         |  |
| 1               | 2      | 3           | 4                          | 5           |         |  |
| 0 N             | one    |             |                            |             |         |  |
| O 2             | ,3,4   |             |                            |             |         |  |
| O 2             | ,3     |             |                            |             |         |  |
| 4               | ,5     |             |                            |             |         |  |
|                 |        |             |                            |             |         |  |

| Question 5                                                                                                                                         | 1 / 1 pts |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Statement: Following first-order formula is satisfiable. True or Fa $\{\exists x \ P(x), \exists x \ Q(x)\} \models \exists x \ (P(x) \land Q(x))$ | ilse?     |
| O True                                                                                                                                             |           |
| False                                                                                                                                              |           |
|                                                                                                                                                    |           |
| For suppose if we take P as even and Q as odd there exists n element x which is both even and odd so it is false                                   | o such    |

Question 7 1/1 pts Consider the following statements in first-order logic:  $1) \ \forall x \ (P \ (x) \land Q(x))$   $2) \ \exists x \ (P \ (x) \land Q(x))$   $3) \ \forall x P(x) \land \forall x Q(x)$

| Which of these statements expresses the idea satisfies both properties P and Q"?                                                                                                                                    | that "Every individual                                                       |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ○ 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                              |
| ① 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                              |
| 0 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                              |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                              |
| O 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                              |
| Statement 1, $\forall x  (P  (x) \land Q(x))$ , uses a ustate that for every individual x, both P(x) are represents the concept that every individual both properties.                                              | nd Q(x) must be true. This                                                   |
| Question 8                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1 / 1 pts                                                                    |
| Which of the following statements are true for $G$ , and for any interpretation !?  1) $(F \vee G)^I = \vee (F^I, G^I)$ 2) $(\neg G)^I = \neg (G^I)$ 3) $\exists x F(x)^I = t$ if $F(c^*)^I = t$ for some $c \in G$ |                                                                              |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | .  *                                                                         |
| 1,2,3                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                              |
| ○ 1,3                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                              |
| ○ 2,3                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                              |
| ○ 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                              |
| Question 9                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 1 / 1 pts                                                                    |
| A set of clauses S is Herbrand satisfiable iff, toinstances of clauses in S is Herbrand satisfiabTrue or False?                                                                                             |                                                                              |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                              |
| True     False                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                              |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                              |
| Question 10                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1 / 1 pts                                                                    |
| Every student of CSE579 who reads everyday g                                                                                                                                                                        | jets an A in CSE579.                                                         |
| $\bigcirc$ $\forall xStudent\left(x ight) \land Takes\left(x,CSE579 ight) \land \exists_1$                                                                                                                          | $y\left(Day\left(y ight)\wedge ReadsOnDay(x,y) ight) ightarrow GetA(x,CSE5)$ |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                              |

 $\forall xStudent\left(x\right) \land Takes\left(x,CSE579\right) \land \forall y\left(Day\left(y\right) \rightarrow ReadsOnDay(x,y)\right) \rightarrow GetA(x,CSE579)$   $\ominus \\ \forall x \forall yStudent\left(x\right) \land Day\left(y\right) \land ReadsOnDay(x,y) \land Takes\left(x,CSE579\right) \rightarrow GetA(x,CSE579)$

Quiz Score: 9 out of 10

◆ Previous
Next ►